

Historic, Archive Document

Do not assume content reflects current scientific knowledge, policies, or practices.

62.73

c1943

ANDORRA ADVOCATE

Special

LIBRARY

These are Nature's Jewels

Crataegus cordata (Washington Thorn)

ANDORRA has dipped into its treasures and has chosen for you the jewelry of the plant world—those rare and lovely trees that bring to your gardens their brilliant beauty of flower, fruit and foliage through all the months from early Spring until late Autumn. ANDORRA advocates planting them to frame a vista, or to create a picture from your windows, where you may see them and enjoy them.

Halesia (Silver-Bell Tree)

Cornus kousa (Japanese Dogwood)

Sorbus aucuparia (Mountain Ash)

Cerasus subhirtella (Pink Weeping Cherry)

Among your most precious possessions will be:

Cornus florida multibracteata—Double White Flowering Dogwood (on the cover); gracious camellia-like flowers; rich red Autumn foliage. (20'—25')

Crataegus cordata—Washington Thorn; abundant white, pink or scarlet blossoms in May (order your choice); brilliant scarlet leaves in the Fall; bright red clusters of fruit. (20'—25')

Sorbus aucuparia—Mountain Ash. Large white clusters of flowers in May; brilliant orange-red fruit, golden leaves in Fall. A gorgeous small tree. (20'—30')

Cerasus subhirtella—Pink Weeping Cherry. Spring's earliest blossoms, silvery-pink, in great profusion. Graceful drooping form, handsome leaves. (15'—20')

Malus coronaria (Wild Sweet Crab)

Halesia—Silver-Bell Tree; profusion of beautiful little white bells early in May. Orange-brown tinkling pods in Fall. A graceful, spreading tree. (15'—20')

Cornus kousa—Japanese Dogwood. Starry-white flowers in June-July. Unusual and interesting, with vivid red leaves in Autumn. (15'—20')

Malus coronaria—Wild Sweet Crab; lavish, fragrant, rose-pink blossoms. A handsome small tree, with vivid Fall fruit. (15'—20')

Cladrastis lutea—Yellow-Wood (shown on last page). Fragrant, creamy-white clusters in June; golden leaves in Fall. A rare tree. (30'—40')

Oxydendrum—Sorrel-Tree (shown on card). Tassels of white flowers in Summer become golden tassels of berries against the glowing crimson of its leaves in Autumn. A glorious tree, with color excitement month after month. (25'—30')

These unusual trees are carefully selected to vary from 2½' to 5' in height, for easy handling—you can plant them yourselves! Their height at maturity is noted in parentheses.

Cladrastis lutea
(Yellow-Wood)

At left: Full-grown tree in its Summer glory

At right: Detail of its bloom

Andorra has selected these groups of rare Trees with especial consideration for their jewel-tones of flower, fruit and foliage throughout the year. Like precious gems, they have a permanent value.

The enclosed card is for your convenience

(Or ask for Special Values on your own selections)

Group 1 4 Unusual Trees, 2½' to 5' $14 Special Value

Double White Flowering Dogwood
Pink Weeping Cherry

Silver-Bell Tree
Mountain Ash

Group 2 5 Unusual Trees, 2½' to 5' $19 Special Value

Double White Flowering Dogwood
Washington Thorn

Sorrel-Tree
Silver-Bell Tree

Pink Weeping Cherry

Group 3 6 Unusual Trees, 2½' to 5' $24 Special Value

Double White Flowering Dogwood
Japanese Dogwood
Wild Sweet Crab

Washington Thorn
Yellow-Wood
Mountain Ash

Group 4 9 Unusual Trees, 2½' to 5' $34 . Very Special Value

1 each of the 9 Trees described and illustrated in this folder.

FREE DELIVERY

within the limits of Andorra's delivery schedules, specified by ODT.
Otherwise, express collect.

ANDORRA NURSERIES, Inc.

(Telephone: Chestnut Hill 4200)

Wissahickon Drive at Northwestern Avenue, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, Pa.

(Easily reached from Ridge Ave. or Germantown Ave.)